

AT LAKE CHAMPLAIN

Plans Have Been Made for Great Celebration

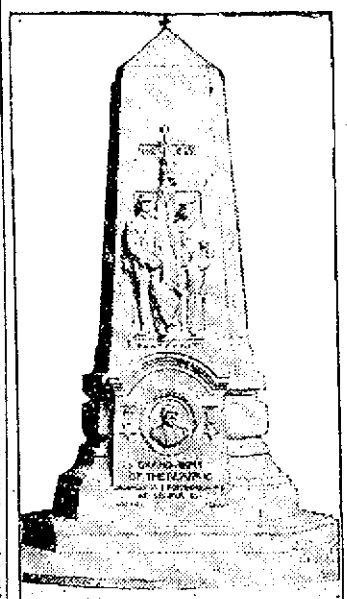

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—Three hundred years ago, in the summer of 1609, Samuel de Champlain, explorer and colonizer, leading an expedition southward from Quebec, discovered the picturesque lake which bears his name. The precise date is not known, but it was either on or very near the 4th of July, and to celebrate the tercentenary of this memorable event New York and Vermont have joined hands in arranging exercises for the week of July 1-9. The federal government and Canada will also participate.

Along the historic shores of Lake Champlain, where for years the tide of war surged to and fro during the march from savagery to civilization, its stories and legends will be told again in a series of celebrations commemorative of incidents of early naval and military struggles. Here Champlain, leading the Algonquins and Hurons against the Iroquois, won the battle of Champlain. Here, also, bloody campaigns were waged to determine whether English or French civilization was to be uppermost in America. In the revolutionary days Ticonderoga, Crown Point and Plattsburg were the scenes of decisive engagements, while in Plattsburg bay the Americans won

FOUND GUILTY

Monat Was Convicted of Murder

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—After a trial lasting four days the jury in the supreme court here last night brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree against Napoleon Monat. Monat, who is 25 years old and a trainman on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was convicted of murdering John Kliff, an elderly restaurant keeper at Honesdale Junction, and robbing him of $325. Monat entered the restaurant early in the morning to buy a corned beef pipe. When Kliff turned to get the pipe Monat struck him on the head with a draft bolt. The first blow failed to knock the old man down, and a second one was dealt, causing death.

Several jurors said last night that the jury will probably sign a petition to Gov. Hughes asking for clemency.

REV. MR. TRUE

FORMER LOWELL PASTOR GETS CALL TO ANOTHER CHURCH

SOMERSWORTH, N. H., June 28.—Rev. Robert F. True of Hudson, Mass., has been extended a unanimous call to take the pastorate of the First Baptist church in this city which has been vacant since last March. Rev. Mr. True preached here recently and created a favorable impression.

Rev. Mr. True was born in Holderness, N. H., Jan. 25, 1851, and was educated at the New Hampton Literary Institute, St. Johnsbury, Vt., academy, and Bangor Theological Seminary, graduating from the latter in 1880. After a pastoral at Abington, Mass., he engaged for ten years in Y. M. C. A. work. Later he was chosen associate of the evangelistic association of New England with headquarters in Boston, which office he held for nine years.

For three years he was a missionary pastor in northern New Hampshire, during which he organized and built a church in his native town. He then went to Lowell, where he had a pastorate for four years. From the latter place he went to Hudson.

KILLED BY FALL

Man Dropped From a Window

BOSTON, June 28.—Crazed, it is believed, by the heat, Michael Cavanaugh, aged 48, died of a fall from a window on the third floor of his lodging house at 42 Stanton street about 2:20 yesterday afternoon.

Cavanaugh, it is said, had been working at the steamship docks in the morning and came home seriously affected by the heat. He was seen by his landlady, Mrs. Ellen Garrigan, to come into the house about noon, going straight to his room.

Two hours later he attracted attention in the neighborhood by throwing cups and saucers at the passersby, one of whom, Robert Turley, barely escaped being hit by a large water pail.

He was then seen by Abraham M. Smith and others of the neighborhood to stand up in the window and look out for a while, with the apparent intention of climbing up to the window on the next floor. Unable to do this he tried to get back, but fell, landing on the sidewalk flat on his back.

A police ambulance was called, and the man taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where it was found that his back was broken. He died about 5 o'clock.

He had been employed as a longshoreman. He was a member of the longshoremen's union and of the A. O. U. M. It is said that he had a wife, Rose Cavanaugh, who usually lived with her mother in Montreal, but who some Friday had been staying with his brother in South Framingham.

The library will be closed Tuesday from 10 A. M. to 9 P. M. Also Thursday and Friday, except from 4 to 8 o'clock during July and August. The Sunday opening of the library and upper reading room will be discontinued during July and August.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pimple on top of my hand. It burst and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm, and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I noticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was eczema. I tried his remedy, but it did not do much good. I went to another doctor who increased and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further.

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a case of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal a sore or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Burkhardt, 235 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

STREET RAILWAY JURY'S VERDICT

Not Responsible for Johanna Eastman Killed Woman or Was Johnson's Death Accessory to Crime

An inquest into the death of Johanna Eastman, in the local police court on the afternoon of June 23, and the report of Judge Pickman's findings was given to the press yesterday. The accident happened in East Chelmsford on the evening of May 23. The victim of the accident was driving her cow and while following the animal across the track she was hit by a heavy Boston car and killed. While Judge Pickman finds that the street railway company, its agents or servants, was not responsible for the accident, he passes out a little advice that may stand the company in good stead. In summing it all up, he says:

"I deem it to be my duty to emphasize the record of the fact that there was a delay of one-half to three-quarters of an hour before the car was raised and the body removed, for reason of it being necessary to send to Lowell to obtain the appliances necessary to raise the car. At an inquest held before me recently, it appeared that a woman was struck by an electric car and thrown down under the car, near the track and that her clothing became entangled so that it was required to raise the car before she could be removed. There was an interval of half an hour during which the woman, conscious, and severely injured, was under the car before an appliance could be found and brought to raise it. At some time it may be deemed necessary to raise electric cars on long routes to carry a jack, or raising appliance, or that such appliance be kept or stored at points reasonably distant along the route, convenient of access and available for prompt and efficient use."

"Respectfully submitted," "John J. Pickman," "Special Justice of the police court of Lowell."

ST. MICHAEL'S, Me., June 29.—With the compromise verdict of the coroner's jury that Robert E. Eastman either killed or was accessory to the murder of Edith May Woodill, and the declaration of State Attorney Taylor that he was through with the case, the strange dual tragedy which has for nearly a week focused the eyes of the entire country upon this out-of-the-way hamlet of Maryland, became a closed incident yesterday.

Four of the 12 jurors who listened to the testimony at the protracted inquest, refused to sign the verdict until the words "not accessory" to the crime were added to the final which, approved by the majority, bluntly accused Eastman of the murder. None of the four dissenting jurors would say that any other person than Eastman was responsible for the girl's death. They merely asked to be protected, they said, against the manner in which the inquiry was conducted, declaring that much available evidence was not adduced.

The letter left by Eastman for his wife, in which he declared that Mrs. Woodill was killed by a woman in a jealous frenzy, was read to the jury. The officials seemed to take it for granted that all of the evidence unearthed since the finding of the body was well known to the residents of the community and that it was unnecessary that it be rehearsed. There was a bit of politics in the verdict, too, for some of the members of the jury have been bitter political enemies in Talbot county affairs.

The jury sat for a time yesterday in the lonely bungalow itself, within sight of Eastman's unmarked grave, not 50 feet away. Mrs. Eastman had visited the place and asked the jury to go to the place and see the place. Some one with ill-judged humor had planted a tomato vine on the grave. Mrs. Eastman, thinking the vine a flower, asked what it was. She stood by the grave, crying, and her shoulders shook convulsively. Then she was led away.

Much of the testimony given before the jury was deeply interesting and made clear many points in the tragedy which heretofore have been matters of conjecture. The mysterious launch which was reported to have been seen near the bungalow on the Sunday following the disappearance of Mrs. Woodill did not figure in the evidence. Residents of the vicinity of the bungalow were asked questions about the launch, but none had seen it.

No one on the Sunday following the disappearance of Mrs. Woodill saw the launch. There was absolutely no evidence that anyone other than Eastman could have been responsible for the crime.

The final theory of the authorities is this: That Eastman was in need of money; that he probably had been getting money from Mrs. Woodill for some time; that he undoubtedly knew something of her past life and that he had been blackmailing her; that he attempted to kill her in the practice yard; that he found out certain things about Eastman and that if driven to it would expose him.

Eastman's dread of serving a term in a penitentiary is well known. His wife has said that her husband would rather commit suicide than be confined in prison. The pawning of the jewelry, the authorities set down to the desire of Eastman to get away. When cornered the men decided that his face had been run and that he had been making a good end of it all. As to why Mrs. Woodill went to the bungalow there was an evidence.

An interesting development yesterday was the discovery of scraps of a torn letter in the cracks of the bungalow floor. Little sense could be made from the fragments of the letter, but the writing was identified as that of Mrs. Woodill. The letter evidently was about the visit of someone to some place, to be "phoned" or not as she saw fit. Whether or not the letter could have had any bearing upon the case is impossible to tell.

After the first trial in the bungalow, the coroner's jury adjourned where the verdict was announced. The four jurors who dissented were deeply impressed when they first read Eastman's letter giving his story of the crime and while they usually believed him, they were not convinced that every other possible factor in the case be eliminated. They complained that no testimony showing that Mrs. Woodill and Eastman met at Royal Oak station on Saturday and were last seen together in a motor boat was officially presented.

Coroner Sparks, who conducted the inquest, and Mr. Knickerbocker, the foreman of the jury, both undertakers, are business rivals and the natives commented last night upon the fact that they usually disagreed about everything.

Mrs. Eastman was granted letters of administration yesterday and all her husband's real estate and personal property will be turned over to her. She will go back to New York soon and turn in the share.

George Powell, who was next sworn said that he spent practically all of the Sunday at Eastman's place, which commands an uninterrupted view of the bungalow and he saw no one enter or leave the place. He did not see that horse and buggy, which Sutton testified about. He said he saw no launch near the place on Sunday. The witness described a long conversation he had with Eastman, in the bungalow on Wednesday morning.

"Usually when I passed, he invited me in," said Powell, "but Wednesday he did not and I thought it a little strange. Eastman said he had just returned from the greatest time of his life, and that he had had many experiences which would make 'great reading.' He said he had got some girls over at St. Michael's and asked them if they would not like to go to his bungalow. They said they would, and everybody got into the launch and started out. A storm arose, however, and Eastman said the girls got cold feet as he expressed it and wanted to go home. Then they ran around on the beach. Powell testified that he wanted the girls to take off their shoes and stockings and waded ashore, but they would not do this and he waded ashore alone to get a boat. After getting the girls ashore, Eastman said he took the girls home. I supposed he meant to their own home."

"I also saw Eastman on Monday morning and asked what he had been doing out on the water at 1 o'clock that morning. He said he had some friends in the shack and had been telling them great stories about the size of Eastman's shoe system. The friends replied that they were from Missouri and he was a shyster."

"Eastman," he continued, "said he went out and grappled for some oysters and brought them ashore. Eastman said that the party he had had on Sunday kept him busy washing dishes all day Monday."

"You are sure you saw no visitors about the bungalow on Sunday?" interposed the state's attorney. "Sure," replied Powell.

On Monday the witness saw Eastman burning some things in the yard, he explained afterward that it was some excelsior.

"But the jury seemed to consider and made lots of noise," said Powell, "and Eastman frequently raked it over. I did not ask Eastman who the girls were in his party. I supposed they came from one of the summer boarding houses."

Robert Smith told of Eastman's coming ashore at this place when the motor boat ran aground. "It was about 11 or 11:30 o'clock Saturday night," said the witness, "Eastman told me of the ship and said he wanted a boat. I told him I would help get the launch off, but he said that he had a lady in it and must protect her and that he would not have me see her for a thousand dollars."

Eastman said nothing to Smith of there being two girls in his party. Evidently he decided not to take any chance of his companion being seen and recognized. Next day Eastman, with his son's team took the girl to St. Michael's.

George E. Taylor, the station agent, testified that he saw Eastman, but added nothing new.

James Lawrence of Elm Street the first to be injured in premature celebration of the Fourth James Lawrence, aged 13, and living at 78 Elm street, is the first member of the rising generation of this city to meet with an accident of this kind. Despite the warning that explosives are not to be used before 3 o'clock on the morning of the 4th of July this year, James decided that he would take a chance and last night about 1 o'clock, securing a revolver and blank cartridges, he started to fire upon the quietude of the vicinity of his home. Lacking the process of loading the weapon he allowed the trigger to come unexpectedly on the cartridge, which resulted in an explosion. The powder penetrated the palm of the hand, inflicting a painful injury. He was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he received treatment.

TOWN MEETING

In Dracut Voted to Hold Treasurer

The special town meeting of the voters of Dracut, held last night for the purpose of borrowing $10,000 to defray town expenses and to act on the resignation of Treasurer James J. McMahon, attracted a large number of voters. The business was transacted with great dispatch, the plan order being authorized, while the resignation of the treasurer was not accepted.

Selection of a new treasurer to the voters that while the article called for the borrowing of $10,000 it was not the intention of the board of selectmen to borrow more than was necessary to defray the expenses. At the present time $2000 is needed to meet bills against the town.

John W. Peabody asked for information regarding the amount of taxes collected since March and what became of the balance of $3500 in the town treasury from last year; also the $10,000 borrowed in anticipation of taxes at the annual meeting.

Treasurer McMahon stated that $12,000 had been turned over since March, and the $10,000 loan was used to pay a note due from last year. There was some discussion over the collection of taxes and there were several phases of the collectors' duties debated at length.

The article was passed by a vote of 15 to 11. Relative to the resignation of Mr. McMahon, it was voted to give him option as to filling a bond in his official capacity.

AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSN

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., June 29.—An invitation to make Chicago its headquarters instead of Boston was accepted for the American Library association by the executive board at the meeting here yesterday. Since the association was started three decades ago, the Boston public library has been the headquarters, but of late a desire to do more thorough work in the west has led to agitation for removal from Boston, and the offer by the Chicago public library of the large and fully arranged suite of rooms was therefore accepted.

YESTERDAY'S EXERCISES

Winslow School Alumni The banquet and annual meeting of the Winslow School Alumni was held at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon under a large tent pitched on Flint's field, opposite the Littlefield library. An excellent dinner was served, during which a pleasing musical program was carried out by Prince's orchestra of Nashua.

Divine blessing was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Tappan, a missionary recently returned from Japan. After dinner the business meeting was held. The Winslow school was founded in 1790 from a fund of $83 pounds, 15 shillings, left by Sarah Winslow. The school was originally of the grammar grade and prepared pupils for college, and the teachers of the school were appointed by the selectmen of the town subject to confirmation by three ordained ministers.

Shortly after two o'clock Rev. James Danforth, president of the alumni, invited to order and it was voted to postpone the business part of the meeting until this evening. The meeting was then turned over to Horatio Allen, who was schoolmaster of the Winslow school in 1855-56. Mr. Allen spoke of the development of education in New England, and during the course of his remarks spoke of the first schoolmaster of the Winslow school, Dr. Bernard Tucker, who taught the school in 1790. He also made mention of the names of other schoolmasters who taught at the school. He gave facts and figures showing the small sums of money appropriated for the support of the school in the early days. At that time the school seemed to play a prominent part in school circles, according to the speaker, for he referred to the fact that the daughters of the men in power were the ones selected to teach the schools.

He spoke in an interesting manner of the schools of 50 years ago, the methods of education, etc.

Rev. Mr. Henry, pastor of the Congregational church, was called upon, after speaking in a humorous manner of the joys and feelings of kinship found in the coming of a school alumnus, which he was never able to enjoy, inasmuch as he was educated in the public schools of Boston.

Supt. Chase S. Howard Chase of Lowell, who is superintendent of the Tynghboro schools of the present time, referred to the co-operation between the school committee and the people of the town which has resulted in the upbuilding of the schools of the town.

Col. Bruce of the 13th N. H. regiment, who taught at the Winslow school in 1859, is now residing in Mt. Vernon, N. H., and said that it was indeed a happy occasion to come back to Tynghboro, even for only a few hours, after an absence of 50 years. He spoke of the pleasure of acquaintances made while in the town.

List of Visitors The following is a list of people, other than residents of Tynghboro, who registered at the Littlefield library during the day: Mrs. Austin Buchanan, Woburn; Mrs. Austin B. Woods, Natick; John P. Coburn, Woburn; Fritz E. Adams, Lowell; Caroline Talbot Carr, White Plains, N. Y.; Robert C. Carr, Lowell; A. B. Butler, Boston; Ellen A. Perkins, Concord, Mass.; Elmer A. Excursion on River In the afternoon there were excursions on the Merrimack river. The steamboat Gov. Allen left the old Ferry wharf, near the Tynghboro bridge, at different periods during the afternoon and carried people up and down the river, the different points of interest along either side of the river being pointed out.

This evening at eight o'clock there will be an informal reception in the town hall, and music for the occasion will be furnished by French's orchestra of Nashua.

One of the busiest men in the town is Chief Benjamin Lawrence, of the police department. Besides looking after the law and order of the town he is doing everything in his power to make the visitors to the town right at home, directing them to different points of interest, and assisting them in various ways.

The town is deeply indebted to Derby & Morse of Lowell for the construction of the 'Welcome' sign in the square and A. A. Flint, the box of the town, who is furnishing the power for the lights.

While the formal exercises in connection with the 100th anniversary of Tynghboro are being held on the south side of the river it should not go un-noted that the north side, which is occupied by a few old residents and a number of Lowell camp owners who pay good taxes to the town are not allowing the occasion to go by without some kind of a celebration. The first house passed on the north side of Tynghboro is that of Mrs. George Greig, known Lowell milliner. The flag was flying merrily yesterday, while Mr. and Mrs. Greig entertained a number of friends in honor of the celebration.

Passing further up the road to the north side of the river, the first house is that of Mrs. George Greig, known Lowell milliner. The flag was flying merrily yesterday, while Mr. and Mrs. Greig entertained a number of friends in honor of the celebration.

INQUEST HELD McRAE REMOVED

Over Body of Lowell Woman He Was State Boiler Inspector

KILLARNEY, Ireland, June 29.—An inquest was held here yesterday over the bodies of Mrs. Columa, of Lowell, and two other of the women victims of the heating disaster on lower Killarney lake last week, when five American and four English travelers and two boatmen lost their lives. The jury handed down a verdict that the deaths of the women were accidental and that no one could be blamed.

GREAT WELCOME

Was Extended to Archbishop O'Connell

BOSTON, June 29.—An enthusiastic greeting was given Archbishop William H. O'Connell as he walked down the gangplank of the steamer Romantic (which is absent in Rome of nearly three months) on Wednesday. There will be a more formal welcome with services in the forenoon at the cathedral and a public meeting in Mechanics hall in the evening.

The archbishop expressed himself as greatly pleased with his trip abroad and especially with the reception by the papal authorities in Rome.

PATTERN MAKERS

HAD A MOST ENJOYABLE OUTING SATURDAY

The pattern makers of Lowell held a most successful outing Saturday afternoon at George Farmer's camp at Nahasset pond. The most important question to settle was who was the better at baseball, married or single men. Although for a week the married men claim the honor, it had to be proven. And by a score of 16 to 11 they proved that all good men were either married or dead.

The most important features were the hard hitting of Sylvester and Hall, and the coaching of Archie Gohar at third base. After the game a swimming contest was easily won by Frank Callahan, who went out of sight from shore. Since the outing Collins has been in disguise, having lost both hand and nose, but he was also very early Monday morning at the Lowell Machine shop.

Refreshments were served by Joseph Goudart and Stewart Shaw. A delegation from Lawrence association and also excelsior makers and apprentices from Lowell made up the company, which was very large. An evening of various sports concluded a very enjoyable outing.

MATRIMONIAL

Edward F. Cox and Margaret Lynch were quietly married at St. Peter's parochial residence yesterday at 11 o'clock by Rev. Father Dennis. The bride and groom were both of Lowell, and sister of the bridegroom, acted as best man and bridesmaid.

The happy couple left on the noon train for parts unknown. After a brief honeymoon, they will be at home to their friends about July 10, at 111 South Highland street.

FATAL WOUNDS

Man Was Stabbed in the Breast

BOSTON, June 29.—A report of a row started in an alleyway off Garland street in the South End, late last night, John McAsh, aged 24 years, married, was stabbed in the breast and died on the way to the City Hospital. John J. McAsh, aged 28 years, alias J. J. McAsh, was arrested by the police on the charge of murder. Little is known as to the cause of the row.

CHAPMAN CAUGHT STRIKE IS ENDED

But Joseph Gouin, the Other It Cost the City of Pittsburg Prisoner, is Still at Large More Than $200,000

DOVER, N. H., June 29.—William ward dusk came upon the man they sought. Chapman, one of the two prisoners who escaped Saturday morning from the New Hampshire state hospital for the insane in Concord, was captured in Madbury yesterday and brought to the police station in this city late last night. The other prisoner, Joseph Gouin, of this city, who was serving a term of from 20 to 25 years for his part in the robbery of the Lady-Carrier factory at Dover on Feb. 16, 1904, and the killing of an Italian on a train at Rockingham Junction immediately after the robbery, is still at large.

It was Edward Caldwell, a farmer of Berrington and his son, Harold, aged 16 years, who took Chapman into custody. Chapman was known to them and when they saw the fugitive pass their house yesterday afternoon, he told his father and they started in pursuit. They took a short cut to a railroad crossing where they thought Chapman would try to jump a freight, but he did not put in an appearance. Determined not to give up the chase, they drove along the Madbury road in their buggy and to-

PITTSBURG, June 29.—At 12:30 o'clock last night the street railway strike, which has cost the city over $200,000 in two days, was officially declared at an end. In the private office of Mayor Wm. A. Magee articles were signed by officials of the Pittsburg Railway company and an executive committee from the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees which will for years to come prevent another paralysis of the city by street railway strikes. The strike, it developed last night, was the outcome of two points of difference between the car company and the motormen and conductors, one being alleged neglect by the car company to shorten "swing runs" and the other refusal by the railway officials to re-instate discharged men without proper hearing.

All during the day Mayor Magee made vain efforts to bring the two opposing elements together, and finally at a conference at 2 o'clock he made his sentiments so extremely plain that the car company officials and union men finally agreed to settle their differences. With slight modifications an agreement allowing discharged men proper hearings before superintendents and the assurance of the car company that they would shew "saving runs" fifty per cent, was drawn up and signed.

Union headquarters were at once notified by Mayor Magee and the executive committee to instruct pickets at the car barns to call the men for duty commencing at 5 o'clock.

The official inspection stamp, took the old cow to the rendering establishment and shipped the tuberculous cow with other meat that was sound to D. G. Walton of Salem.

Again, some time in February, Marshall testified, Katz brought home a cow that had been given him by a well-known dairyman, after the cow had died from some disease. The cow was given with the understanding that it should be taken to the rendering establishment, but instead of so doing, Marshall claims that Katz shipped the cow to Boston to H. Paul & Co. for use in making hologna sausage meat.

At another time, the witness claimed, Katz obtained a small calf that had been condemned from Sidney E. Hasell and sold it for food purposes in Gloucester.

Several witnesses that appeared for the defense testified that there had been no substitution of cows by Katz. The hearing was attended by a great crowd and created widespread interest.

FIRE DISTRICT

At North Chelmsford Held Annual Meeting

The North Chelmsford fire district held its annual meeting in the town hall last evening with 75 voters in attendance. William J. Quigley read the warrant and Col. Royal S. Ripley was elected moderator.

Article two was to hear the reports of the board of water commissioners, the treasurer, the board of fire commissioners and the auditor. All of the reports were accepted as printed.

The following officers were elected by ballot: Water commissioner for three years, C. Frank Butterfield; fire commissioner for three years, Percy J. Constantino; clerk for one year, William J. Quigley; auditor for one year, Preston L. Piggett; chief engineer for one year, Henry O. Miner; first assistant engineer for one year, William J. Quigley; second assistant engineer for one year, Percy J. Constantino.

Under article seven it was voted to raise by taxation enough money to meet its annual expenses. It was voted to raise $2000 for the extension of the water mains under article 8 which read as follows:

Article 8. To see if the district will vote to extend its water mains in the Nashua road from the present terminus, near the waiting room or restaurant of John Marinet, Jr., to the Cross road, for the purpose of supplying the inhabitants and householders of the northerly part of the district with water for domestic purposes and fire protection, and raise by taxation, to meet the expense thereof, a sum not exceeding $2000, and act in relation to the same.

It was voted under article nine to authorize the treasurer to borrow, with the approval of the water commissioners, such sums of money as may be needed, under this article.

It was voted to appoint a committee of three to go before the legislature about the enlarging of the fire district. The committee appointed was: James P. Dunnigan, C. Frank Butterfield and Col. Royal S. Ripley.

At 10 o'clock the meeting adjourned.

GREAT BATTLE

Steel Corporation to Disunionize Shops

NEWCASTLE, Pa., June 29.—If the United States Steel corporation plans do not miscarry the Amalgamated association of iron, steel and tin workers will, on Wednesday night at midnight, be brought to a close after 31 years.

The death struggle of the association will center here, beginning Thursday morning. The mills will keep open, the trust managers say, even if there are only half a dozen available men instead of 5000 men. After this struggle has ended, the United States steel corporation, if successful, will never again have to deal with union labor.

Three weeks ago the American tin plate company issued an order, posted in all union tin plants, controlled by the tin trust, setting forth that after June 30 all tin plants controlled by the American tin plate company, subsidiary to the steel corporation, would be operated "open shop."

This has resulted in opposition from all of the tin workers, who form 75 per cent of the membership of the Amalgamated association. If the trust is victorious, the independents will also be forced to disunionize their mills in order to compete with the trust mills. A great drop in the price of tin would be the result.

DISEASED COW

Said to Have Been Sold for Food

GLoucester, June 29.—Some startling disclosures were made during the hearing before the municipal council yesterday afternoon and evening on the petition of Maurice Katz for a restraining order against the sale of a cow by Nathan Marshall, an employee in the Katz slaughter house. It was alleged that Katz killed a cow May 8. On inspection by Inspector George S. Watson one of these was found to be infected with tuberculosis and was condemned. The inspector ordered the cow sent to a rendering establishment. That night, according to the testimony of Marshall, Katz went into the country and bought an old cow for $15.

Returning home he killed her at 2 o'clock in the morning. He then imitated the official inspection stamp, took the old cow to the rendering establishment and shipped the tuberculous cow with other meat that was sound to D. G. Walton of Salem.

Again, some time in February, Marshall testified, Katz brought home a cow that had been given him by a well-known dairyman, after the cow had died from some disease. The cow was given with the understanding that it should be taken to the rendering establishment, but instead of so doing, Marshall claims that Katz shipped the cow to Boston to H. Paul & Co. for use in making hologna sausage meat.

FOUND $10,000

Expressman Startled by Discovery

MILWAUKEE, June 29.—Michael Leonard, expressman, almost had seven convulsions the other day. He had an experience that might have stricken the stoutest heart.

Leonard had been engaged to haul a lot of money between banks. He responded cheerfully for it is always pleasant to have even temporary charge of money.

Besides himself, there were a lot of custodians in the express wagon. Each custodian had charge of some of the money, which was in bags. When they reached the depository the custodians jauntily jumped out and hurried up the steps. Mr. Leonard proceeded to whip up his horse and drive away. But he casually looked over the bottom of his wagon, and lo!

There lay a bag filled with coin away up to its apertic neck. There was, according to common report, $10,000 in that bag. What if some watchful highwayman had espied it?

The thought sickens the cold shivers creep.

SEARCH FOR CHINESE

Police Expect to Get Suspected Murderer of Girl

NEW YORK, June 29.—The police cordoned off the neighborhood of the narrow tenement comprising Patterson Passaic, Hackensack and other neighboring towns, is tightening today around a number of Chinamen, among whom the police hope to find trace of Leon Ling, the supposed murderer of Elsie Sigel. Fifty of the best detectives of Inspector McCaffrey's staff have been sent into this district; the concentration of so many of them virtually in one spot lends color to the belief that some important information so far carefully guarded from the public is in the possession of the police.

The double mystery of the independent movement immediately following the removal of Leon Ling, on the one hand, and the trunk containing the body of Elsie Sigel, on the other, was no nearer solution today after the detectives had run down the clue touching on the alleged movement of the trunk on the night of June 9 from Ling's rooms in Eighth avenue to a laundry in West 124th street. According to a story told by the man who is supposed to have moved the trunk, Leon Ling did not accompany it on its travel from the Eighth avenue address to Harlem, but sent it on by express. The laundry was found unopened when the detectives visited it, however, and no clue of value obtained.

CLASS REUNIONS

Were Held at Harvard Today

CAMBRIDGE, June 29.—Harvard college was again today the scene of many class reunions and festive gatherings participated in by her graduates.

Those who did not participate in the more formal exercises of the day after strolls about the college yard went off on excursions to numerous resorts where there was considerable jollity. The more serious minded, however, especially those connected with the three schools remained in or about Cambridge.

The Divinity school alumni held its business meeting in the chapel in the forenoon and after election of officers listened to an interesting paper by Prof. Crawford Howell Toy, LL. D. on "The Religious Construction of the World."

The members of the Law School association after visiting the school here went to Boston when the business

MANY REUNIONS

WERE HELD AT DARTMOUTH COLLEGE TODAY

HANOVER, N. H., June 29.—The exercises today of the 140th commencement of Dartmouth college were given over entirely to the alumnus, who held reunions of various bodies throughout the day.

The Phi Beta Kappa society held its annual meeting early in the morning to receive into its fellowship the highest ranking scholars of the graduating class. The annual Phi Beta Kappa address, which in many former years has been delivered by some eminent scholar, was omitted this year, the address before the alumni being the feature of the morning.

The general alumni association of the college met immediately following the Phi Beta Kappa society gathering and was addressed by Dr. Charles Dana, LL. D., of the class of 1872 of New York city. The business meeting and election of officers of the association took up the early part of the afternoon.

THE COLBURN SCHOOL.

If conditions at the Colburn school are as bad as described by a correspondent who sends his children there, some improvements should be provided without delay. If it be a fact that children in the basement are in danger of being out from escape by fire, that defect should be remedied at once. The building is old and it is located on the edge of the Concord river, where the air is not as pure as it might be. If the defects of the building menace the health of the children or retard their progress, then they should receive due attention from the building department at once. It is easier to repair the old school than build a new one.

HEALTH LAW WIPED OUT.

The supreme court the other day wiped out chapter 119 of the acts of 1894, a health law under which the Boston board of health ordered that Butler's Row leading from Chatham Row to State street should be paved as the board directed so as to overcome the danger of disease from stagnant water. Butler's Row is a private passageway and the owners refused to obey the order of the board.

In declaring the statute unconstitutional the court said:—"The present statute, without even providing that directions may be given to cease using the way until the conditions complained of have been remedied, purports, through changes which may be ordered, to authorize the impairment of the natural right inherent from ownership freely to use property not of itself obnoxious to the general welfare."

The justice of the principle involved in that decision can readily be seen although it never occurred to the framers of the law. The right of private ownership cannot be wiped out except for some good and sufficient reason.

THE TARIFF ON HIDES.

If we are to judge of New England influence in congress from what she has accomplished or failed to accomplish in the tariff discussion now in progress, we must admit that her representatives make slight impression as against the demands of the rest of the country.

The representatives of the shoe and tanning industries in New England made a brave fight for free raw material, but while some said they would not grant any true free raw material for its manufacture the beef trust gets the benefit of the tax on hides while the shoe and tanning industries, not a trust, are refused when they ask that hides be admitted free of duty.

Free hides would benefit every man, woman and child in the United States by making less the cost of shoes; but with a tariff on hides the beef trust is the gainer as the farmers are too subservient to the trust to be able to derive the benefit that such protection should give them. The same is true in many of the other schedules that have been the subject of much discussion. They benefit either a trust or a small number of individuals while they increase the cost of living to the masses of the people.

ENGLAND TO TRY AN AIRSHIP.

Great interest is centered in the forthcoming attempt to fly an airship from Paris to London in accordance with an announcement made by Philip Du Cros. This gentleman seems to be in a position to speak for the British government in reply to the charge of lethargy on the airship matter.

It is alleged that Germany and other countries have got ahead of England in the manufacture of airships for military purposes, but it appears that the British government has been experimenting privately, offering encouragement to inventors to produce an airship that would be dirigible so as to be available for military operations in case of war.

The ship which it is said will sail from Paris to London is of 217,500 cubic feet, will have two propellers, driven by two motors, each of 220 horse power and is intended to carry 25 passengers in addition to a supply of petrol sufficient to last for a journey of 700 miles. The government has an option upon the purchase of this ship, the only condition being the lack of a suitable shelter, but this will be furnished by the Morning Post of London at a cost of $25,000. If this airship should prove more successful than that of Count Zeppelin, there would be another cause for jealousy on the part of Germany against England.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING.

The collision between an automobile and a wagon on Bridge street Sunday resulted in serious injury to the occupants of the wagon, yet the autoist drove away without leaving any clue as to his identity beyond the fact that his machine was noted as of New Hampshire register.

The operators in such cases should hold a chauffeur until he learns the extent of the injury or leaves his name and the number of his machine. This thing of knocking over a wagon or a pedestrian and driving off to escape the responsibility for the damage is cowardly, and the man who does it deserves to be severely punished.

Visiting autoists drive too fast on the public streets. We may expect their bare in large numbers all during the summer, as the announcement of the big race will attract them, but the people of Lowell should have some protection against their recklessness. The police will have to adopt measures to enforce the speed laws in the lives of pedestrians on the streets are imperiled by fast driving.

Autoists from other states are required by law to be registered in this state as otherwise they will be regarded as trespassers without the ordinary protection except for willful and wanton injury to their machines. When motorists from other states enter Massachusetts they must be equipped with a license card showing their registration in this state if they want the full protection guaranteed by law to the motorist who endeavors to comply with all laws.

YOUTH

I am the unquiet sister with the old wild, beautiful eyes
Who went forth from my home to seek
I am the immortal child who yearned for the moon and the star above
I am the dreaming girl who burned for the touch of a god on her cheek.

I am the unquiet sister with the young, ancient, beautiful eyes
Whose feet with morning were shod
I have traveled the long, long road where the caravan smoke and the golden dust of fire
I am the dreaming girl who awoke and discovered a vanishing god.

I am the unquiet sister with the gray, roving, beautiful eyes
Who plucked at the world in its bloom
Oh, to be as I was at first, transparent, eager, unwise
For the cool little brook I thirsted
Where I drank when the day was young
And the door of my girlhood's room.

I am the unquiet sister with the old, wild, beautiful eyes
I have seen so many things—
Hope attained in a slightest tower and graves for questioning
Love that endured for an hour and the eyes of wounded things
I would like to go back once more, creep back, dark foot in the rain
And thimble knock at the door I left, I can never go back again.
Florence Wilkinson.

A gentleman in an address to a graduating class told the following story of the president of an ocean steamship company, who was taking a journey across the water.
When the ship was in a dangerous channel he became engaged in conversation with the pilot, an elderly man, who had spent most of his life on the water.
The president of the company remarked: "I suppose you know all about the dangerous places in this channel?"
"None," replied the pilot.
"You don't?" exclaimed the president. "Then why are you in charge of this vessel?"
"Because I know where the bad places are!"

"There is a certain story," said President Eliot of Harvard, at a Har-

LIEUTENANTS FOULOIS AND LAHM WHO WILL FLY IN AEROPLANE

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Lieutenants Lahm and Foulais of the United States army will make flights with the Wright brothers in their tests of the aeroplane at Fort Myer. It will be remembered that at the last government tests of the machine Lieut. Selfridge of the signal corps was killed. He was in the machine with Orville Wright when a wire became entangled in the propeller and the aeroplane was dashed to the ground. Selfridge was killed instantly, and Orville Wright suffered a fracture of the leg. Orville, who has not been in the aeroplane since the accident, will pilot it in one of more of the government flights. This photo of Lieutenants Lahm and Foulais was taken at the Fort Myer testing grounds. The man on the right is Lieut. Lahm.

"When I was twenty years old and a tutor in mathematics and a special student in chemistry at Harvard, I was a proctor in one of the halls. One night I heard a disturbance and hurried down to see what was happening. There were no lights in those days, and as I moved about among the disturbers I heard them say: 'Look out, or old Eliot will catch us.'"

"Now, not long ago, when I was well past 70, I was going from Cambridge to Boston one night, about 11 o'clock, and I met a party of students returning from Boston to Cambridge. They recognized me and asked among themselves: 'Where the — is Charles going at this time, — is Charles?'"

"What we want," said the man in the frock coat, "is a safe and sure Fourth."

"You bet we do," agreed the man with the wispy whiskers.
"We should put a stop to the unusually noises that shatter the very air upon that day. I say to you, sir, that on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the greatest, grandest, most glorious governmental structure that has—"

"Oh, I've just been to the photographer's with my pet dog, Dido," (which she carried in her arms), "and we had our portraits taken together, haven't we, Dido? Beauty and the Beast, you know, Mr. Johnson!"—with a saucy little laugh.

"And what a little beauty he is, to be sure!" replied Johnson inadvertently, as he tenderly stroked poor Dido's head and pulled his ears. And then he suddenly remembered, and became hot and cold in turn.—Tit-Bits.

CHILD BURNED
Clothing Caught Fire From Rubbish

LAWRENCE, June 28.—Nora, six-year-old child of William Harrison of 6 Emmett street, was seriously burned on the legs, back and arms yesterday afternoon, her clothing having caught fire from a burning pile of rubbish which was lighted in the vicinity of the school building.

Eliot Lafontaine of 154 Lowell street who was driving by had his attention attracted by the child, and in his endeavor to save the little one, he, too, was badly burned on the hands and arms. Both were taken to the hospital.

BOY SHOT WAS STRUCK BY A QUEER BULLET

EVERETT, June 28.—Dominic N. L. 11, 55 West Third street, was struck by a bullet yesterday afternoon. The bullet entered the person who fired the shot and was recovered.

He was on his way home with a load of coal and had stopped to rest on Second street, when without warning he entered a cry and fell to the ground.

His brother, John, who was with him, saw the bullet and he was struck by it in the arm, where he was standing by Dr. W. McAllister, who said that the bullet had entered the head just above the temple. He probed the bullet and succeeded in extracting it.

The neighbors say that there was no sound of the street and that the shot must have come from the rear of one of the houses.

DUNLEVY SUIT

Has Come to End at Last

BATTLEBORO, Vt., June 28.—Proceedings in the Dunlevy-Fenton breach of promise suit for $15,000 were brought to an abrupt close yesterday afternoon when a settlement between the two parties was effected, ending an action which has been pending in the Vermont courts for nearly two years.

The terms of the settlement were refused for publication, but they were in the vicinity of $5000, each party in the suit to pay their own costs. The settlement was satisfactory and Miss Dunlevy and Mr. Fenton refused to further discuss the case.

Injunction after injunction has been placed on the proceedings and they have been held up in one form or another since 1907, when the suit was first brought. The case had been set for trial today before the Windham county court, but the attorneys of Mr. Fenton have been working for some time toward a settlement, and after a two hours' session yesterday morning the parties agreed.

The plaintiff, Miss Katherine Dunlevy, is a well-known court stenographer, while E. J. Fenton, the defendant, conducts one of Brattleboro's largest clothing stores.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

"Chuckie Connors, the Bowery Boy" was given its opening performance at the Lakeside theatre, last night, at the Plymouth Stock company, and it pleased the members of the Lowell baseball team were the guests of Manager McGuire and appreciated the pungent bit the play immensely.

The success that this company experienced last week will undoubtedly be repeated, as the "Connors" character is one that James J. Kennedy is particularly facile in assuming. "Chuckie" in the play suddenly finds himself plunged into the household of his uncle, "Rev. William Maxwell," a country person. The amusing episodes which follow his stay at the pastoral residence, his escapades with the girls, they turn to the pathetic side of life. "Chuckie" amounts to a whole lot in the unravelling of the plot, and manages to reconcile the pastor with his daughter "Edith," who has married an actor man. He also, by his keen wit, thwarts the designs of the world villain, "Ben Thompson," and he is awarded the title of "hero" of the play of "Edith," to pay off the mortgage which has been hanging over the family for years.

The story is clearly drawn, and Kennedy offered is rich in places. Naturally enough Mr. Kennedy is much to be pitied, but the play is not in general spots is unusually good. Resolving taking part in the play, he appeared between the acts and carols some of the better known songs of the moment. His supporting company is made up of the following names: Miss Alice William Maxwell, Charles Bonte, Leslie Dale, J. Paul Jones, "Benjamin Bumpus," J. J. Elwyn, "Dave Beaslie," Danny Bagnell, "Gene Warren," J. J. McHenry, "Walter," "Edith Maxwell," Miss Agnes L. "Dorothy Maxwell," Miss Antoine Smart, "Sarah Shubbs," Miss Miss Stanley, "Milly White," Miss Kathie "Lester" and "Chuckie Connors," Kennedy.

"Chuckie Connors" will be given after afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week. It is an excellent comedy and will be played by a capable company and given in a remarkably cool theatre.

THEATRE VOYONS.

A more thrilling picture than "Grandfather," the former picture at the Theatre Voyons today, is said seen. Its story of the Franco-Prussian war is much different from any of wartime picture ever shown. The story of the Prussians to the French boy and the terrible revenge his grandfather in the hands of the wonderful doctor, Dr. Pato, would be too strong for ordinary shock, but in their hands one is so absorbed in the story that it is not noticed. "A Hypnotic Cure" is one of the most laughable comedies seen in a time. Every second that it is being shown is a laugh for its clever piece of work. There are many other pictures of interest and songs are fine.

STAR THEATRE

The best amateur show ever seen in Lowell was given at the Star theatre last Tuesday night and tonight show it is expected, will be equally good. It will not be a show of professionals engaged in Lawrence elsewhere, but real live amateurs, would-be thespians, the kind that make you laugh.

A western talking picture is excellently presented. There is in addition new motion pictures and a comedy worded Don Gaspar, the funniest talking picture ever staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Electric fans and excellent ventilating facilities at this theatre.

Comments on Anti-Plutocratic Movement in America | Mayor's Commission Reports on City's Industrial Setback

PARIS, June 29.—Signor Guglielmo Ferraro, the Italian historian who visited the United States last year continues publication in the Figaro today of his comments on the anti-plutocratic movement in America. He calls attention again to the lack of organized resistance on the part of the rich to the attacks of the general population on their part, that the movement has been provoked by real abuses which must be corrected. Many people sympathize with this movement openly and some sons of rich men have thrown themselves into the fight. This fact the writer considers to be another proof of the vitality of the movement in America where the basis of everything is the theoretical rule of the majority. The infiltration of anti-plutocratic ideas among the masses is recognized and the republican party although allied to the interests of the rich has realized that it could not adopt too hostile an attitude without provoking a revolt. Signor Ferraro is of the opinion that the picture painted by Max Nordau and others of the violent rich is not an altogether convincing one. The masses are enormous and says the belief is held in some quarters in Europe that the masses in America are organizing a revolution to despoil the wealthy.

Signor Ferraro explains the grounds for his opinion that the feeble attacks which the rich men of America are making against this anti-plutocratic movement will not result in a social catastrophe.

BROCKTON, June 29.—Revelations almost startling in character were last night made public in the report of the commission of five citizens appointed by Mayor John S. Kent and the city council months ago to find out what is the matter with Brockton shoe industry.

Their purpose was to ascertain the causes for the exodus of shoe factories from Brockton and to recommend, if possible, some solution to a situation declared to have imperiled the industrial welfare of Brockton's chief industry, the manufacture of shoes.

This commission was composed of Warren Goddard, Rev. Abner Hudson, J. K. Vincent, Warren T. Cleveland and Patrick McCarthy. Mr. Goddard is a lawyer, Mr. Hudson the pastor of the First Congregational church, Mr. Vincent was for several years foreman in local factories, Mr. Cleveland is a banker and Mr. McCarthy an expert shoemaker.

Departure of that concern from Brockton for its new home establishment, factories in Springfield, Me., Nashua, H. Marlboro and Haverhill. This, is asserted, has resulted in the taking away of employment for over 25 operatives here. The union shows no interest in the contract situation with the company, it is contended.

The five citizens recommended in their report that a committee of conference be appointed jointly by the manufacturers and the shoe workers, which shall take cognizance of all union matters and direct any action in such conditions or labor and that no matter be taken before the state board of arbitration until this method of obtaining results have failed.

Another recommendation is that local agents and unions exercise restraint and give each other no careful investigation before bringing it up as a source of contention, a fact manufacturers do likewise.

BREEZY POINT, WILLOW DALE Success from the very first opening.
This afternoon and evening will wit- Dancing will be in order both after-ness the opening of the newly fitted up noon and evening.

The report, which occupied months in preparation, was filed with the city government a week ago and has since been under consideration. It had been expected to present to the public a number of recommendations covering the cost and shoe workers' union, which assumed yesterday afternoon in Syracuse, N. Y. Mayor Kent and the board of aldermen accepted the report and then made it public.

The report outlines the uses for the city-owned shoe business, from the standpoint of the shoe manufacturer, the shoe retailer and the shoe consumer. It recommends the adoption of a shoe rationing system, an apprenticeship system, or at least a more liberal policy than now prevails is recommended.

It is recommended that the B. and O. W. Co. adopt the decision of the state board of arbitration regarding the Douglas company controversy and that an earnest effort be made to again establish the union stamp contract between the union shoe parties.

The report also advocates covering the labor cost for each grade of shoe is recommended.

HEAVY REBATES

Coffee Men Are to Receive $100,000

NEW YORK, June 29.—The alleged scandal in the coffee trade, focused around charges that all coffee passing through the New York Dock Company did not reach the consignees, took a new turn yesterday, when the company agreed to reimburse its patrons to the extent of more than $100,000.

The company's directorate includes Adrian Iselin, Jr., C. O. O'D. Iselin, Edwin Thorne, Henry E. Nichol and Frederic Cromwell, David H. King, former president, resigned after charges of shortages were made.

Although efforts have been made to keep the matter as quiet as possible—and with some success—there is said to be considerable more back of the case than appears on its face.

Nearly a year ago Supt. Carr, in charge of some of the company's docks, astonished the coffee trade by statements to the effect that the coffee bags contained less coffee when they left the docks than when they arrived.

The company was attacked on such short notice that it was unable to explain.

Carr was discharged, on the ground that he had talked with the newspapers, and later the president of the company resigned.

The dock company called in an auditing company to go over its accounts, with the idea of disproving the Carr charges if possible and the exchange took the matter in hand.

The examination took months and the auditors' findings were against the company. Now the dock company announces that its own accountants will examine further, to see if all the shortages have been found, and the coffee exchange requests permission for its bookkeepers to dig further into the facts.

On the face of the auditing company's report alone the exchange asks the dock company to return more than $32,000 in cash, or place it to the credit of the importers who use the docks.

Further request is made that 7,558 bags of cleaned and uncleaned coffee sweepings, worth about $70,000, be placed to the credit of the importers.

In handling a certain amount of coffee gets out of the bags. These "sweepings" are cleaned up and a division is made between importers and dock owners.

That the dock company failed to distribute a proper share of the "sweepings" is really the body of the charge.

WANTS TAX REPEALED

WASHINGTON, June 29.—In the course of an answer to question in the senate today Senator Aldrich said he would support the corporation tax amendment as a means of defeating the income tax. He expressed the opinion that the corporation tax would be repealed after two years or the rate materially lowered.

SENATOR TILLMAN

Wants Duty of Ten Cents a Pound on Tea

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Tillman lost no time today in renewing his effort to have a duty of 10 cents per pound placed on tea in the interest of tea grown in South Carolina. This being the last of the amendments proposed while the tariff bill is before the committee of the whole there was a desire to force it through. Everyone was anxious to vote, but the South Carolina senator was full of his subject and wanted to speak. He told of the superior quality of the American grown tea, of the enormous profits made in the imported article and the possibilities in case the domestic industry should be properly fostered.

Senator Dixon suggested a bounty as a means of nurturing the infant tea industry and in this he was supported by Senator Smith (Mich.). Mr. Tillman responded that he did not propose to be caught in advocating a bounty. He would not accept a bounty, he said, if the superior quality of the American grown tea, of the enormous profits made in the imported article and the possibilities in case the domestic industry should be properly fostered.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

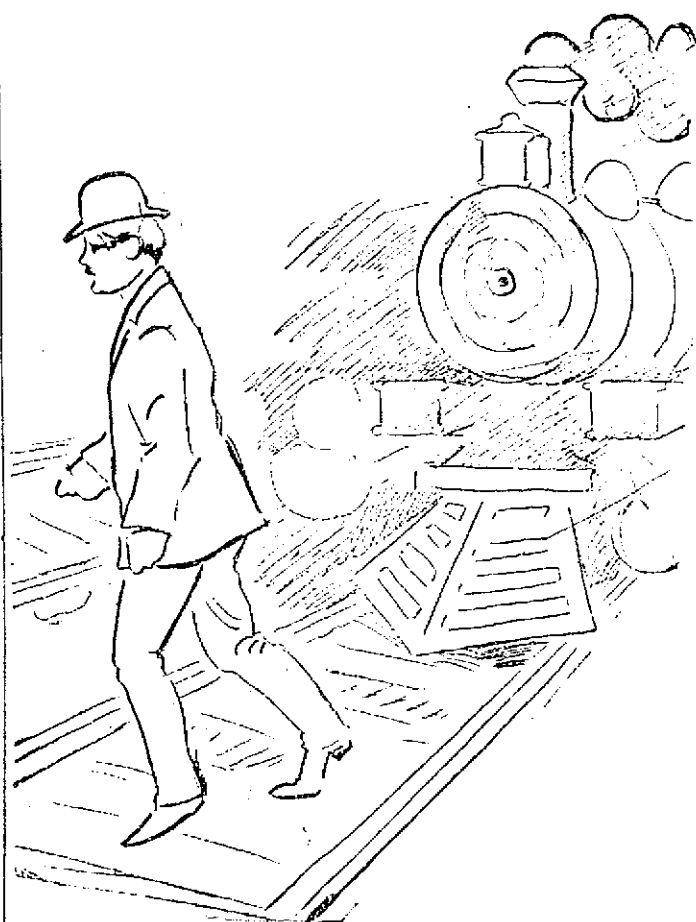

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 29.—In the supreme court here Justice Tompkins sentenced Napoleon Monat to be executed in Sing Sing prison during the week of August 9.—Monat was convicted last night of murder in the first degree for killing John Kliff, a restaurant keeper at Hopewell Junction, last January. Sentence was passed while a jury was being drawn to try George Conrow for complicity in the same crime. Conrow is indicted for murder in the first degree.

TWO STREET CARS DYNAMITED

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 29.—Attempts made last night to blow up street cars with dynamite have aroused citizens to a serious phase of the strike. The first outrage occurred at 10:10 o'clock, when dynamite was exploded under a car at Fulton avenue and Missouri street. The floor of the car was blown out and windows in the car and in buildings near were shattered. The motorman, Alexander Dixon, and Conductor C. E. Matlock were not injured. The car crew said there was one negro on the car at the time. He jumped off and ran away.

The second attempt took place two hours later. All the windows of the car were broken. Motorman Payne and Conductor Olliger were not injured. There were no passengers on the car.

KILLED BY TRAIN

SKETCH SHOWING HOW MAN WAS KILLED ON RAILROAD TRACK NEAR MIDDLESEX STREET DEPOT THIS MORNING

James Harkins Struck by White Mountain Express

James Harkins, aged 29 years, residing at 10 Walnut street, was struck, terribly mangled and instantly killed by the White Mountain express, on the Boston and Maine tracks in the south yard near the Hale street bridge about 9:50 this morning, the train being due in Lowell at 9:52 o'clock.

Harkins, who was employed at the Tremont & Suffolk mills, was walking along the tracks, and in stepping out of the way of a shifting engine, walked directly in front of the express train which was going at a high rate of speed although it was slackening preparatory to entering the depot.

Of Tyngsboro Celebration Attracted Large Crowd to Town

Exercises attending the third and final day of the Tyngsboro centennial celebration were held today in the town and the townspeople, together with hundreds of former residents and out-of-town people, were present to assist in making the affair a grand success.

The weather conditions were better today than on the previous days. Sunday the intense heat made it anything but comfortable to enjoy the fine program arranged, and yesterday it was hot and then the threatening storm in the afternoon tended to bring the Winslow school alumni banquet to a sudden close. The weather of today, however, was ideal, a light to moderate northwest wind making it all that could be desired.

All during the day open houses were in order and great hospitality was displayed. The renewing of old acquaintances was continued during the day, and many were the reminiscent stories told by the old-timers who had not met for years until the present celebration.

The program for today included a band concert on the green near the Winslow schoolhouse at 10 o'clock. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon there was a banquet and historical address. Charles Burrows, a former resident, acted as toastmaster, and his brother, James Burrows of Lynn, made the historical address. There were several other speakers who were heard.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon there was a band concert and the celebration will come to a conclusion this evening with a ball in the town hall, music for dancing being furnished by the Waltham orchestra.

Fine Concert Program
The concert in the morning by the Waltham Watch Co. band, John M. Flockton, conductor, proved to be a rare treat and attracting many people to the green in front of the Winslow school house. The following is the program carried out.

SOLD HIS WIFE

Then He Entered Suit Against Purchaser

PORTLAND, Ore., June 23.—John Braganza, after having sold his wife to his neighbor, H. Ruddat, for $150, has brought action against his wife's purchaser for alienating her affections. Ruddat showed a bill of sale, leaving the signature not only of his complaining neighbor, but of the woman.

This unusual document is to be presented in the circuit court at Ruddat's defense of the charge of alienating the woman's affections. It is now in the possession of Attorney John F. Logan and John H. Stevenson. The point they raise is as to how Braganza can be damaged, as he contends in his complaint when he sold, bartered and exchanged his wife for the sum of $150. Here is a copy of the bill of sale.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 4, 1909.—I my wife have sold to H. Ruddat, for $150. (Signed) John Braganza, Emma Braganza, H. Ruddat.

The two men live on Guild's Lake, in northwestern Portland. Braganza brought his wife here from Germany several years ago.

EMBASSY WORK

ASSOCIATION APPEALING TO AMERICANS TRAVELING

LONDON, June 23.—The recently formed "American Embassy Association" has begun a campaign among Americans living and travelling in England to enlist their support in a movement to induce the government to provide the embassies in foreign lands with suitable buildings. E. Charles Jones, president of the association, Frederick Townsend Martin of the executive committee and J. Sanford Beatty have taken headquarters at the Carlton hotel here. They are making arrangements for a big dinner July 7, when many Americans travelling will be the guests, and they have invited a number of prominent Americans to speak.

The promoters believe that Americans who come abroad are more likely to take an interest in this work than those who stay at home, and they are urging the travellers to continue the agitation on their return.

CUTTERS ARE IDLE

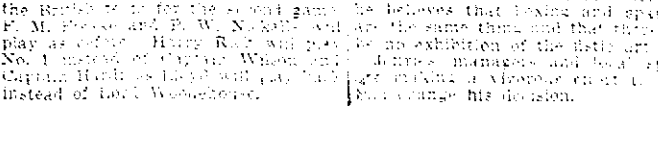

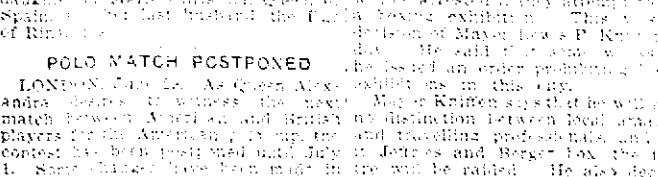

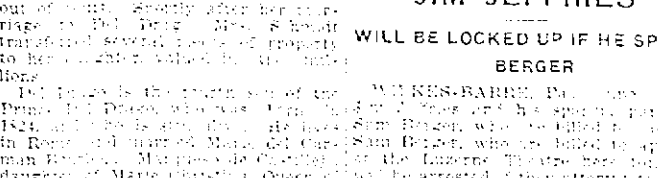

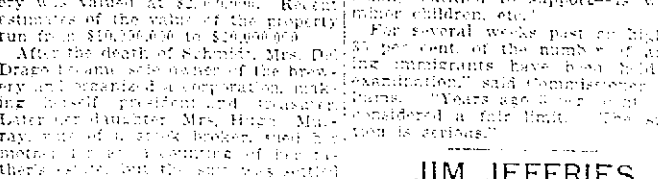

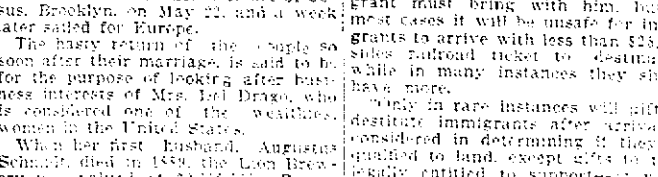

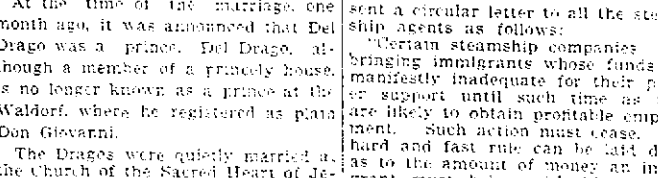

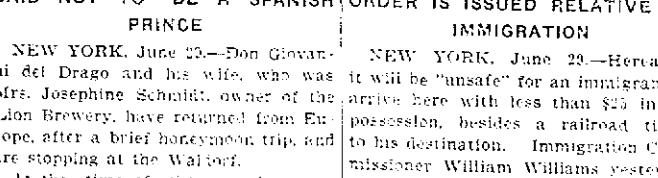

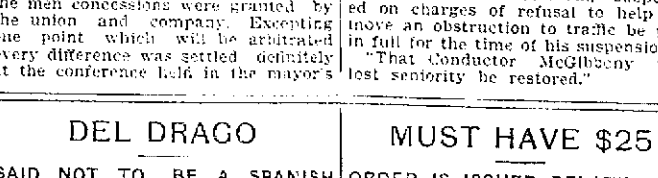

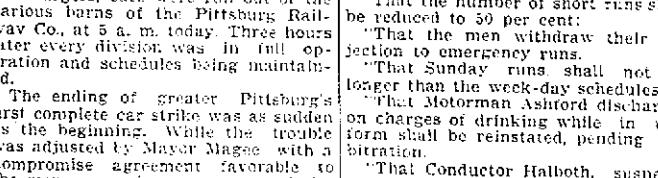

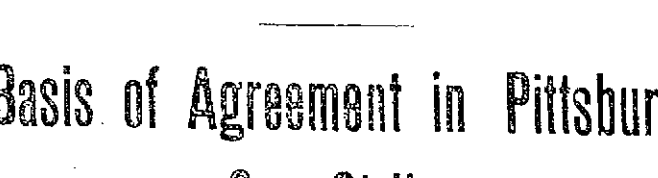

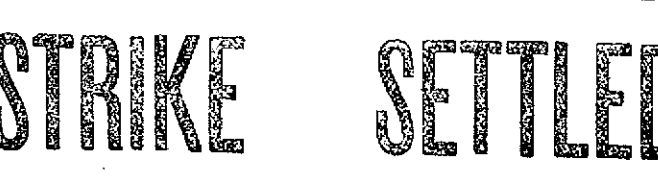

As Result of Request for Higher Wages

Sixteen cutters employed at the Federal Shermans are out of work because of a demand for a rearrangement of prices on their work. A delegation of the cutters called at the Sun office and stated that while they made a request for an increase they did not intend to make any trouble for the company as they have no union and did not intend to form their claims.

They state that they believe they are entitled to an increase of 15 cents per day of 22 pairs of shoes, and boys' puttees and girls' puttees and boys' puttees. They state that while it is true that some weeks they make $12 per week, their yearly average will not be over $12 on account of the many idle periods in the year. The men regret that the company management showed their intention in desiring for an increase.

TO SETTLE CASE

Between Orinoco Corporation and Venezuelan Government

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 29.—The certain documents signed by George Turnbull until Turnbull was out of the country and then giving them publicity. Turnbull left Caracas June 14. These papers are said to be exceedingly damaging to Messrs. Zuñiga and Urdaneta, showing that their alleged titles to the Imatoca mine are not valid. The Venezuelan government has entered upon a sensational development.

After a newspaper campaign of weeks on the part of rival claimants to establish approval of the American protocol, the Venezuelan government has approved the draft of a new concession to the Orinoco corporation, the right to work large tracts of land containing valuable mineral resources including the Imatoca iron mine.

The society has arranged for energetic support in the various German states, and the Prussian cabinet has decided to include a liberal appropriation for it in the next budget. The association purposes to grasp the problem of lack of employment in the most thorough manner, so that men without work can be brought into immediate contact with vacancies in any part of the empire.

FISHERIES TREATY

Discussed by Prof. Jordan and Prof. Prince

TORONTO, Ont., June 29.—For the purpose of going over the regulations contained in the fisheries treaty which has been signed by the president of the United States and the prime minister of Canada, Prof. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, and Prof. E. E. Prince of Ottawa, are conferring here.

The commissioners thought the regulations drawn up by them were as perfect as could be, but in order to prevent any possible applications for changes they decided to go over them again and now are doing so. Some changes may be made, but it is not likely.

The regulations have been made international rather than local, says Prof. Jordan, and will be promulgated by the two governments about next December to take effect in January, 1910, or possibly not till 1911. "We have dealt with the matter from an international standpoint and as though there were only one country and whatever benefits are derived by one will be derived by the other."

NEW YORK, June 29.—"Garry" Adams, son of the late chewing gum millionaire, was ordered to pay his wife, Elsie, $5000 a year alimony yesterday by a jury in Justice Kelly's court, Brooklyn, where she had brought suit for a separation. Mrs. Adams' contention was that her husband's mania for golf had led him to desert her. Mrs. Adams asserted her husband loved the game so much that he wandered away to Florida or wherever else national contests were held, leaving her at home without a good-bye or a letter to tell where he was. She was unable to work, and her health was failing. She claimed that while she was at the Waldorf-Astoria he was playing golf and she was left alone. SLOOP BESSIE II CAPSIZED

NEW YORK, June 29.—In the height of the thunder and lightning storm that swept over Long Island Sound yesterday the sloop Bessie II, of Whitestone, capsized off Delmour's Point, City Island, while helpless hundreds looked on and saw four men swept to what seemed certain death.

The sloop was running before the wind, when a gust of wind caught the mainsail and the boat went over. Men on shore waved and shouted to the four men who were swept overboard, but in the dark that suddenly fell and the noise of the storm it was impossible to give them advice or aid.

For several minutes the men were whipped about and beaten almost unconscious by the waters. A big wave swept them close to the tender of the overturned sloop, and all four managed to get hold of the side of it. Thus they drifted and fought the sea until the storm was spent, when they crawled into the boat and roved ashore exhausted. They gave their names as Harris Spears, owner; Arthur and Charles Peace and Harris Bronker—all of Willets Point.

PATTERN MAKERS HAD A MOST ENJOYABLE OUTING SATURDAY

The pattern makers of Lowell held a most successful outing Saturday afternoon at George Finner's camp at Nabesness pond.

The most important question to settle was who were the better at baseball, married or single men. Although for a week the married men claim the honor, it had to be proved. And by a score of 15 to 11 they proved that all good men were either married or dead.

The most important features were the hard hitting of Sylvester and Holt, and the coaching of Archie Golar at third base.

After the game a swimming contest was easily won by Frank Callahan, who went out of sight from shore.

Since the outing Collins has been in disgrace, having lost both beard and moustache, but he was discovered early Monday morning at the Lowell Machine shop.

Refreshments were served by Joseph Goulart and Stewart Shaw.

A delegation from Lawrence association, and also ex-pattern makers and apprentices from Lowell made up the company of about 25 men.

An evening of various sports concluded a very enjoyable outing.

AT LAKE CHAMPLAIN

Plans Have Been Made for Great Celebration

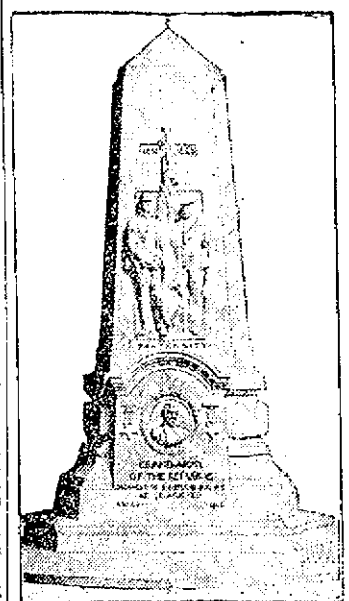

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—Three hundred years ago, in the summer of 1609, Samuel de Champlain, explorer and colonizer, leading an expedition southward from Quebec, discovered the picturesque lake which bears his name. The precise date is not known, but it was either on or very near the 14th of July, and to celebrate the tercentenary of this memorable event New York and Vermont have joined hands in arranging exercises for the week of July 1-8. The federal government and Canada will also participate.

Along the historic shores of Lake Champlain, where for years the tide of war surged to and fro during the march from savagery to civilization, its stories and legends will be told again in a series of celebrations commemorative of incidents of early naval and military struggles. Here Champlain, leading the Algonquins and Hurons against the Iroquois, won the battle of Champlain. Here, also, bloody campaigns were waged to determine whether English or French civilization was to be uppermost in America. In the revolutionary days Ticonderoga, Crown Point and Plattsburg were the scenes of decisive engagements, while in Plattsburg bay the Americans won

Monat Was Convicted of Murder

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—After a trial lasting four days the jury in the supreme court here last night brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree against Napoleon Monat.

Monat, who is 32 years old and a trainman on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was convicted of murdering John Kliff, an elderly restaurant keeper at Hopewell Junction and robbing him of $25. Monat entered the restaurant early in the morning to buy a cornish pipe. When Kliff turned to get the pipe Monat struck him on the head with a draft bit. The first blow failed to knock the old man down and a second one was dealt, causing death.

Several jurors said last night that the jury will probably sign a petition to Gov. Hughes asking for clemency.

REV. MR. TRUE

FORMER LOWELL PASTOR GETS CALL TO ANOTHER CHURCH

SOMERSWORTH, N. H., June 28.—Rev. Robert F. True of Hudson, Mass., has been extended a unanimous call to take the pastorate of the First Baptist church in this city which has been vacant since last March. Rev. Mr. True preached here recently and created a favorable impression.

Rev. Mr. True was born in Holderness, N. H., Jan. 25, 1851, and was educated at the New Hampton Literary Institute, St. Johnsbury, Vt., academy, and Bangor Theological seminary, graduating from the latter in 1880. After a pastorate at Abington, Mass., he engaged for ten years in V. M. C. A. work. Later he was chosen associate of the evangelistic association of New England with headquarters in Boston, which office he held for nine years. For three years he was a missionary pastor in northern New Hampshire, during which he organized and built a church in the village of Foxen. He then went to Lowell, where he had a pastorate for four years. From the latter place he went to Hudson.

KILLED BY FALL

Man Dropped From a Window

BOSTON, June 28.—Crazed, it is believed, by the heat, Michael Cavanaugh, aged 40, died of a fall from a window on the third floor of his lodging house at 42 Staniford street about 2:10 yesterday afternoon.

Cavanaugh, it is said, had been working at the steamship docks in the morning and came home seriously affected by the heat. He was seen by his landlady, Mrs. Ellen Garahan, to come into the house about noon, going straight to his room.

Two hours later he attracted attention in the neighborhood by throwing cups and saucers at the passersby, one of whom, Robert Tiffin, barely escaped being hit by a large water pitcher.

He was then seen by Abraham M. Smith and others of the neighborhood to stand up in the window, his back to the street, with the apparent intention of climbing up to the window on the next floor. Unable to do this he tried to get back, but fell, landing on the sidewalk just on his back.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pimple on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm, and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I poulticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was well I poulticed it. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further.

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal a sore or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Buckhart, 236 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

AMHERST, June 20—Class day at Amherst college brought with it ideal weather, clear skies and the humorous atmosphere of the past few days clarified and tempered by gentle zephyrs. Assembling at 9:30 this morning in the college church the seniors, dressed in the customary caps and gowns opened the day's ceremonies and festivities with the reading of the invocation and the humorous event of the day and the reading of the two poems. The seniors then marched to College hall where the more serious exercises were begun with the class oration and the poem by the class poet.

The Grace prayer and poems were given in the afternoon and were followed by a reception to the graduates.

MAN SHOT DEAD

While He Was Acting the Role of Peacemaker

MORRISTOWN, N. J., June 29.—Philip Cassese or Garcia, as he sometimes calls himself, was in a bad humor last night. His sweetheart had been out walking with Ralph Gudege, and this angered Philip. He swore that he would kill the man who he thought was winning the affections of his girl, and he started out to find him with a six shooter and an extra supply of bullets in his trousers pockets.

Gudege is now ill at All Souls' hospital here with a bullet wound in the back near the shoulder blade and will probably die. Antonio Mercendante, who tried to prevent murder, is dead in his home in North street with a bullet through his heart. Both were shot by Philip.

It was 1 o'clock last night when Policeman Ryan of the Madison force heard several shots in the neighborhood of North street. Madison Ryan found the street lined with excited Italians. Mercendante lay dead on the pavement two doors from his home. A hundred yards away Ryan found Gudege lying wounded. He said that Philip had shot him.

For some time the friends of Philip say he has been jealous of his sweetheart, and when he learned that Gudege was making headway in the girl's affections he became ugly. Early in the evening he was talking about the girl and said he would settle matters with Gudege when they met. Shortly before 10 o'clock a crowd gathered

DOCTOR'S REPLY

When Church Put Up
Spite Fence

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 29.—The whole city is laughing at the controversy going on between the officials of the First Congregational church and Dr. J. B. Hallett, a prominent physician. The church has handsome grounds surrounding it. When Dr. Hallett was adjoining the church yard on the west side, he was told that the church would put up a fence to separate the grounds from the church property. Dr. Hallett refused to do so and the church has been awarded a decree.

After several weeks' controversy between the church trustees and the physician the trustees carried on their feet a fence about 100 feet long between their property and Dr. Hallett's property. The fence is about 10 feet high and is made of wood. Dr. Hallett is now in a bad humor and is refusing to do so and the church has been awarded a decree.

James Harkins Struck by White Mountain Express

James Harkins, aged 39 years, residing at 10 Walnut street, was struck, terribly mangled and instantly killed by the White Mountain express, on the Boston and Maine tracks in the south yard near the Hale street bridge about 9:30 this morning, the train being due in Lowell at 9:52 o'clock.

Harkins, who was employed at the Tremont and Suffolk mills, was walking along the tracks, and in stepping out of the way of a shifting engine, walked directly in front of the express train

BISHOP'S COMPLAINT DISMISSED

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Five bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal church who complained to the inter-state commerce commission that they were discriminated against by southern railroads and by the Pullman company in transportation, dining car and sleeping car facilities, have been informed by the commission that their complaint was not warranted. The bishops were Wesley J. Gains, H. M. Turner, Evans Tyne, T. S. Smith and E. Lampton. The commission decides that undue discrimination or prejudice was not shown and the complaint therefore was dismissed.

HARVARD-YALE

Big Game in New Haven Today

NEW HAVEN, June 29.—In the minds of the Yale men back to the university for their reunions the ball game between Yale and Harvard on Yale field this afternoon seemed to take precedence over the more formal football game of the day which chiefly was devoted to consideration of alumni topics. Last night and today after breakfast was drunk to the success of the Yale in the baseball contest and hope for a win which will throw the deciding game of the series and the championship into New York next Saturday was everywhere prevalent this forenoon.

The universities first met on the diamond in '85, the same year that Dean Wright who retires this week from the academic department was graduated from Yale. There have been 111 games all told and each university has won 55. The odd game was a tie, this being in 1906 when rain ended a game in the eleventh inning with one run each.

In this afternoon's game it was expected that Harvard would be in the box for Harvard and Merritt for Yale with Van Vleet in reserve.

The batting order as given out before the game follows:

Yale: Badger, 2b; Fels, 3b; Murphy, cf; Jefferson, 1b; Logan, 2b; Wheaton, 1b; Philbin, rf; Sweeney, cf; Merritt, p; Harwood, 3b; Lamigan, 2b; Harvey, cf; Currier, c; Simons, ss; Aronson, rf; Dunn, lf; Briggs, 1b; Hartford, p; McLaughlin, 2b.

The parade which led the teams to the field was as brilliant in its coloring and fully as demonstrative as the many which have traversed the same road in years gone by. One feature which found delight was provided by the Sheffield '39 class which has at its head seven Highland pipers in kilts all being big fellows in bright red plaid and bonnets with streamers from their pipes. At noon the pipers gave a concert at city hall. The class wore colorful garbs of many colors. There were many Harvard men here but they scarcely showed their colors realizing that this was purely a Yale occasion.

FOR MRS. ADAMS

ALIMONY OF $5000 A YEAR ALLOWED FOR DESERTION

NEW YORK, June 29.—Alimony of $5000 a year and a counsel fee of $1000 were allowed yesterday to Elsie M. Adams in the supreme court in Brooklyn in her suit for separation from Garrison B. Adams, son of Thomas Adams of chewing gum fame.

In her complaint Mrs. Adams says that she was deserted on or about December 10, 1909, while living at the Waldorf-Astoria, Manhattan. They were planning a year end tour of Europe when the desertion occurred.

EARTH CAVING IN

RESIDENTS OF ANTIGONISH, N. S., IN ALARM

ANTIGONISH, N. S., June 29.—The disappearance of great stretches of road from the highway is causing much alarm among the people of this town. The first caving occurred a few days ago, when a portion of the James road, six miles long here, sank, carrying with it a telephone pole of which no portion can be seen.

No sooner had this opening been filled up than the earth caved in again, with a long stretch of the highway which had not been disturbed before, making a hole about 100 feet long and thirty wide. The cavity is now filled with water, forming a small lake. Since then there have been two other depressions on other sections of the road.

The roadbed of the Intercolonial railway has been seriously affected by the phenomenon, the rails having settled more than a foot in several places, and the appearance of cracks in the earth along the tracks causes the officials to believe that other caving will occur. The entire roadbed in the vicinity is carefully watched to prevent accidents.

J. W. MacKenzie, assistant road commissioner for Nova Scotia, states that the reason of the disturbances is that subterranean waters are dissolving the plaster, which is very plentiful in the soil, causing the earth to fall in. Mr. MacKenzie says it is his belief that the whole district will eventually become a large lake.

HEAVY REBATES

Coffee Men Are to Receive $100,000

NEW YORK, June 29.—The alleged scandal in the coffee trade, focused around charges that all coffee passing through the New York Dock Company did not reach the consignees, took a new turn yesterday, when the company agreed to reimburse its patrons to the extent of more than $100,000.

The company's directors include Adrian Iselin, Jr., C. O. G. D., Iselin, Adam Thorpe, Henry E. Noble and Frederic Cromwell, David H. King, former president, resigned after charges of shortages were made.

Although efforts have been made to keep the matter as quiet as possible—and with some success—there is said to be considerable money back of the case then appears on its face. Nearly a year ago Supt. Carr, in charge of some of the company's docks, astonished the coffee trade by statements to the effect that the coffee bags contained less coffee when they left the docks than when they arrived. The company was attacked on such short notice that it was unable to explain.

Carr was discharged, on the ground that he had talked with the newspapers, and later the president of the company resigned.

The dock company called in an auditing company to go over its accounts, with the idea of disproving the Carr charges. It is possible that the exchange took the matter in hand.

The examination took months and the auditors' findings were against the company. Now the dock company announces that its own accountants will examine further, to see if all the shortages have been found, and the coffee exchange requests permission for its bookkeepers to dig further into the facts.

On the face of the auditing company's report alone the exchange asks the dock company to return more than $200,000 in cash, or place it to the credit of the importers who use the docks. Further request is made that 7,555 bags of cleaned and uncleaned coffee sweepings, worth about $70,000, be placed to the credit of the importers.

In handling a certain amount of coffee gets out of the bags. These "sweepings" are cleaned up and a division is made between importers and dock owners. That the dock company failed to distribute a proper share of the "sweepings" is really the body of the charge.

WANTS TAX REPEALED

WASHINGTON, June 29.—In the course of an answer to question in the senate today Senator Aldrich said he would support the corporation tax amendment as a means of defeating the income tax. He expressed the opinion that the corporation tax would be repealed after two years or the rate materially lowered.

SENATOR TILLMAN

Wants Duty of Ten Cents a Pound on Tea

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Tillman lost no time today in renewing his effort to have a duty of 10 cents per pound placed on tea in the interest of tea grown in South Carolina. This being the last of the amendments proposed while the tariff bill is before the committee of the whole there was a desire to force it through. Everyone was anxious to vote, but the South Carolina senator was full of his subject and wanted to speak. He told of the superior quality of the American grown tea, of the enormous profits made in the imported article and the possibilities in case the domestic tea industry should be properly fostered. In reply to a question, he declared that he believed that with the duty he asked for the south would not only be able to supply the entire American market but would eventually export a large quantity of tea.

Senator Dixon suggested a bounty as a means of nurturing the infant tea industry and in this he was supported by Senator Smith (Mich.). Mr. Tillman responded that he did not propose to be caught in advocating a bounty. He would not accept a bounty, he said, if a dollar a pound were offered. He was not seeking any selfish advantage for South Carolina but wanted to benefit the entire country.

Sentence was passed while a jury was being drawn to try George Corrow for complicity in the same crime. Corrow is indicted for murder in the first degree.

THE COLBURN SCHOOL.

If conditions at the Colburn school are as bad as described by a correspondent who sends his children there, some improvements should be provided without delay. If it be a fact that children in the basement are in danger of being cut off from escape by fire, that defect should be remedied at once. The building is old and it is located on the edge of the Concord river, where the air is not as pure as it might be. If the defects of the building menace the health of the children or retard their progress, then they should receive due attention from the building department at once. It is easier to repair the old school than build a new one.

HEALTH LAW WIPED OUT.

The supreme court the other day wiped out chapter 119 of the acts of 1894, a health law under which the Boston board of health ordered that Butler's Row leading from Chatham Row to State street should be paved as the board directed so as to overcome the danger of disease from stagnant water. Butler's Row is a private passageway and the owners refused to obey the order of the board.

In declaring the statute unconstitutional the court said:—"The present statute, without even providing that directions may be given to cease using the way until the conditions complained of have been remedied, purports, through changes which may be ordered, to authorize the impairment of the natural right inherent in ownership freely to use property not of itself obnoxious to the general welfare."

The justice of the principle involved in that decision can readily be seen although it never occurred to the framers of the law. The right of private ownership cannot be wiped out except for some good and sufficient reason.

THE TARIFF ON HIDES.

If we are to judge of New England influence in congress from what she has accomplished or failed to accomplish in the tariff discussion now in progress, we must admit that her representatives make slight impression as against the demands of the rest of the country.

The representatives of the shoe and tanning industries in New England made a brave fight for free raw material, but while some said they would not grant any trust free raw material for its manufacturers the beef trust gets the benefit of the tax on hides while the shoe and tanning industries, not a trust, are refused when they ask that hides be admitted free of duty.

Free hides would benefit every man, woman and child in the United States by making less the cost of shoes; but with a tariff on hides the beef trust is the gainer as the farmers are too subservient to the trust to be able to derive the benefit that such protection should give them. The same is true in many of the other schedules that have been the subject of much discussion. They benefit either a trust or a small number of individuals while they increase the cost of living to the masses of the people.

ENGLAND TO TRY AN AIRSHIP.

Great interest is centered in the forthcoming attempt to fly an airship from Paris to London in accordance with an announcement made by Philip Du Cros. This gentleman seems to be in a position to speak for the British government in reply to the charge of lethargy on the airship matter.

It is alleged that Germany and other countries have got ahead of England in the manufacture of airships for military purposes, but it appears that the British government has been experimenting privately, offering encouragement to inventors to produce an airship that would be dirigible so as to be available for military operations in case of war.

The ship which it is said will sail from Paris to London is of 217,500 cubic feet, will have two propellers, driven by two motors, each of 220 horse power and is intended to carry 25 passengers in addition to a supply of petrol sufficient to last for a journey of 700 miles. The government has an option upon the purchase of this ship, the only condition being the lack of a suitable shelter, but this will be furnished by the Morning Post of London at a cost of $25,000. If this airship should prove more successful than that of Count Zeppelin, there would be another cause for jealousy on the part of Germany against England.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING.

The collision between an automobile and a wagon on Bridge street Sunday resulted in serious injury to the occupants of the wagon, yet the autoist drove away without leaving any clue as to his identity beyond the fact that his machine was noted as of New Hampshire register.

The spectators in such cases should hold a chauffeur until he learns the extent of the injury or leaves his name and the number of his machine. This thing of knocking over a wagon or a pedestrian and driving off to escape the responsibility for the damage is cowardly, and the man who does it deserves to be severely punished.

Visiting autoists drive too fast on the public streets. We may expect them here in large numbers all during the summer, as the announcement of the big race will attract them, but the people of Lowell should have some protection against their recklessness. The police will have to adopt measures to enforce the speed laws if the lives of pedestrians on the streets are imperiled by fast driving.

Autoists from other states are required by law to be registered in this state as otherwise they will be regarded as trespassers without the ordinary protection except for wilful and wanton injury to their machines. When motorists from other states enter Massachusetts they must be equipped with a license card showing their registration in this state if they want the full protection guaranteed by law to the motorist who endeavors to comply with all laws.

SEEN AND HEARD

YOUTH

I am the unquiet sister with the old wild, beautiful eyes
Who went forth from my home to seek;
I am the immortal child who yearned for the moon and the star worn slippers;
I am the dreaming girl who burned for the touch of a god on her cheek.

I am the unquiet sister with the young, ancient, beautiful eyes
Whose feet with morning were shod;
I have traveled the long, long road where the caravan smoke and the golden dust up flics;
I am the dreaming girl who awoke And discovered a vanishing god.

I am the unquiet sister with the gray, roving, beautiful eyes,
Who plucked at the world in its bloom.
Oh, to be as I was at first, transparent,
For the clear little brook I thirst
Where I drank when the day was young,
And the door of my girlhood's room.

I am the unquiet sister with the old, wild, beautiful eyes.
I have seen so many things—
Hops detained in a slight tower and graver for questionings,
Love that endured for an hour and the eyes of wounded things.
I would like to go back once more,
Every back, dark foot in the rain
And timidly know at the door I left,
Can never go back again.

Florence Wilkinson.

A gentleman in an address to a graduating class, told the following story of the president of an ocean steamship company, who was taking a journey across the water.

When the ship was in a dangerous channel he became engaged in conversation with the pilot, an elderly man, who had spent most of his life on the water.

The president of the company remarked: "I suppose you know all about the dangerous places in this channel?"
"None," replied the pilot.
"You don't?" exclaimed the president. "Then why are you in charge of that wheel?"
"Because I know where the bad places are."

"There is a certain story," said President Eliot of Harvard, at a Har-

LIEUTENANTS FOULOIS AND LAHM WHO WILL FLY IN AEROPLANE

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Lieutenants Foullois and Lahm of the United States army will make flights with the Wright brothers in their tests of the aeroplane at Fort Myer. It will be remembered that at the last government tests of the machine Lieut. Selbridge of the signal corps was killed. He was in the machine with Orville Wright when it was become entangled in the propeller, and the aeroplane was dashed in the ground. Selbridge was killed instantly, and Orville Wright suffered a fracture of the leg. Orville, who has not been in the aeroplane since the accident, will pilot it in one or more of the government flights. This photo of Lieutenants Lahm and Foullois was taken at the Fort Myer testing grounds. The man on the right is Lieut. Lahm.

One night I heard a disturbance and hurried down to see what was happening. There were no lights in those days, and as I moved about among the disturbers I heard them say: 'Look out, or old Eliot will catch us.'"
"Now, not long ago, when I was well past 70, I was going from Cambridge to Boston one night about 11 o'clock, and I met a party of students returning from Boston to Cambridge. They recognized me and asked among themselves: 'Where the — is Charles going at this time, do you suppose?'"

"What we want," said the man in the frock coat, "is a safe and sane fourth."
"You bet we do," agreed the man with the wispy whiskers.
"We should put a stop to the un-derful noise that shatters the very air upon that day. I say to you, sir, that on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the greatest, grandest, most glorious governmental structure that has—"

"Yes," interrupted the other man, "we ought to choke 'em off. I'm good at listening to those flapping, spread-eagle speeches myself."

"Oh, I've just been to the photographer's with my pet dog, Dido," (which she carried in her arms), "and we had our portraits taken together, haven't we, Dido? Beauty and the Beast, you know, Mr. Johnson"—with a saucy little laugh.

"And what a little beauty he is, to be sure," replied Johnson inadvertently, as he tenderly stroked poor Dido's head and patted his ears. And then he suddenly remembered, and became hot and cold in turn.—Tit-Bits.

CHILD BURNED

Clothing Caught Fire From Rubbish

LAWRENCE, June 23.—Nora, six-year-old child of William Harrison of 5 Bennett street, was seriously burned on the legs, back and arms yesterday afternoon, her clothing having caught fire from a burning pile of rubbish which was lighted in the vicinity of the school building.

Elsie Lefontaine of 184 Lowell street who was driving by had his attention attracted by the child, and in his endeavor to save the little one he, too, was badly burned on the hands and arms. Both were taken to the hospital.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lowell C. E. Union was held last night at the First Presbyterian church. There were 54 delegates present. A lunch was served and a business meeting was held.

It was voted to have the next meeting of the union with the Colburn Mission C. E. Society, and it will be held in the grove of Whitcomb's farm on the Vermont avenue car line.

BOY SHOT

WAS STRUCK BY A QUEER BULLET

EVERETT, June 23.—Dominic Nacini, 11, 55 West Third street, was shot in the head yesterday afternoon. No trace of the person who fired the shot could be discovered.

The boy was on his way home with a bundle of wood, and had stopped to rest on Second street, when without warning he uttered a cry and fell to the ground.

His younger brother, John, who was with him, summoned help and he was removed to his home, where he was attended by Dr. R. W. McKnight, who found that the bullet had entered the head just above the temple. He probed the bullet and succeeded in extracting it.

The doctors say that there was no hole in the skull, and that the shot must have come from the rear of one of the boys.

DUNLEVY SUIT

Has Come to End at Last

BATTLEBORO, Vt., June 23.—Proceedings in the Dunlevy-Fenton breach of promise suit for $15,000 were brought to an abrupt close yesterday afternoon when a settlement between the two parties was effected, ending an action which has been pending in the Vermont courts for nearly two years. The terms of the settlement were refused for publication, but they were in the vicinity of $6000, each party in the suit to pay their own costs. The settlement was satisfactory and Miss Dunlevy and Mr. Fenton refused to further discuss the case.

Injunction after injunction has been placed on the proceedings and they have been held up in one form or another since 1907, when the suit was first brought. The case had been set for trial today before the Windham county court, but the attorneys of Mr. Fenton have been working for some time toward a settlement, and after a two hours' session yesterday morning the parties agreed.

The plaintiff, Miss Katherine Dunlevy, is a well-known court stenographer, while E. J. Fenton, the defendant, conducts one of Battleboro's largest clothing stores.

SCHOOL BOARD

CONGRATULATES GIRL ON HER REMARKABLE ATTENDANCE

It was voted to make a special reference to the remarkable record on the official minutes of the school committee, and to send her an engrossed message of congratulation signed by the members of the high school committee and superintendent.

So far as the records of the school department show Miss Fitzgerald is the first pupil who started in the first grade and went through all the grammar grades and high school without losing a minute from her school duties. The record was verified by Supt. Homer P. Lewis before the vote was passed.

HARVARD CLASS SARGENT, NEW OPEN GOLF CHAMPION AND M'NAMARA, RUNNER UP, ENGLEWOOD

Held Outing at the Country Club

Harvard '06 began its triennial celebration yesterday and 200 members of the class participated in the outing. The headquarters were at Young's hotel, Boston, and there the men gathered. After getting bath and neckties of green and white, together with a picnic on which was the name of each individual, they gathered in a body in Court square at 11.

A few minutes later, headed by a band, they marched to the North station, where a special train was taken for Lowell to the grounds of the Vesper Country club. Once at the Vesper club, superb clothes were discarded and sports began. There were three baseball games going at one time on a small plot of ground that would hardly make one good diamond.

Instead of the regulation baseballs, the ones used were about four times as big and rather soft. To get a turn at the bat all that was necessary was to catch a fly ball. At 1 there was a call for lunch.

Then, headed by the band, the class marched across the grounds to where the regulation baseball is played, and there a couple of good practice games were indulged in to get ready to play 03 today at Cohasset.

The next thing was swimming, and this came as a welcome relief. An impromptu concert was then given by members of the class, who borrowed the instruments from the band, and were directed by Richard Harris.

It was then after 4, so everyone marched back to the clubhouse and changed their clothes, after which a class picture was taken. A special train landed them back in the city at 8, and there was another parade, this time to the American house, where all joined in singing "Fair Harvard."

"BLISTER RUST"

DISCOVERED IN NUMBER OF WHITE PINE TREES

NEW YORK, June 29.—The discovery of a plant disease known as European currant rust or "blister rust," in a number of white pine trees imported from Germany, which have been used for reforesting land in New York and a number of the New England states, was the subject of a conference yesterday at the office of State Forest, Game and Fish Commissioner Whipple in this city.

Those present included experts from New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania, as well as representatives of the national forest service. Prompt efforts will be made to eradicate the disease, which has proved fatal to large tracts of forest in Europe and which has never before gained a foothold in this country.

At the close of the conference, the following statement was issued:

"The trees affected, so far as reported, have come from a single nursery in Germany and as it is known where the trees have been planted, it should be comparatively easy to take care of the trouble. It is promptly attended to, the representatives of the conference believe that there is no reason whatever for alarm among those who have planted seedling trees and those who desire to do so."

The "blister rust" is a fungus disease which lives alternately on the white pine and the currant bush, resulting most seriously to small trees. The disease cannot be discovered until it has developed for a year and for that reason is very difficult to detect. Those present at yesterday's conference included State Foresters W. C. Miller, Connecticut; A. E. Hayes, Vermont; N. Rane, Massachusetts; Commissioners George Allen, Vermont and R. P. Bass, New Hampshire and others.

ALEX SMITH FINISHING

GEORGE SARGENT

TOM McNAMARA

NEW YORK, June 29.—George Sargent, who won the national open championship at Englewood, N. Y., is a native of England and is in charge of the Hyde Manor links at Sudbury, Vt. Ten months ago, at the national open championship over the Myopia (Mass.) course, Sargent withdrew from the struggle at the end of the first day, tearing up his card, for his score was too high to render him eligible for the second day's play. Yet in the recent tournament he won by four strokes on the seventy-two holes medal play at the total of 290. In winning the championship Sargent becomes possessor of the cup for a year, a gold medal outright and $200. Walter J. Travis, the great amateur, finished seventh in the open competition.

Gets Decision Against the Law and Order League

In the case of Rev. Charles A. Merrill, former general secretary of the Lowell Law and Order League, against several members of the league, Judge Fisher has found for Mr. Merrill in the sum of $40, while the league gets the furniture.

This case arose over the removal of the furniture and other things from the general secretary's office in the Citizens building. The officers of the league returned several articles which belonged to the secretary, but claimed that other articles which Mr. Merrill said were his belonged to them.

SWARMING BEES

ON SALOON DOOR SIGN ATTRACT ATTENTION

SPRINGFIELD, June 29.—After circling about Main street, below State, for nearly an hour yesterday morning, buzzing in the ears of frightened pedestrians and trolley passengers, a swarm of honey bees gathered in a great compact ball as large as a half bushel basket at the tip end of the door sign over the door of a cafe at Main and Stockbridge st.

The swarm remained intact all day, when A. H. MacArthur, of 22 Portland street, an expert beekeeper, appeared on the scene with a swarm net and effected an easy capture. Hundreds of people viewed the insect spectacle.

Mr. MacArthur says the bees appeared very tired and must have come from a very long distance. The swarms drove them to take shelter on the saloon sign.

TRIED SUICIDE

Boy Tied String Around His Neck

PROVIDENCE, June 29.—As the third attempt to take his life within 24 hours, 13 year old Philip Noble yesterday tried to choke himself to death in the sixth district court, following a sentence by Judge Blackett to the Sockanosset school for boys during his minority.

Young Noble is charged with being the ringleader of a gang of about 15 boys of a minor nature in Olneyville during the past few months.

When arrested at his home Sunday night for several breaks in Olneyville Youth Noble seized a knife and attempted to stab himself. Balked, he later sank his nails into his wrists, hoping to sever an artery, but he was again prevented from taking his life.

After being sentenced yesterday the boy fought, screamed and kicked, creating a great disturbance in the court room and had to be carried out by two policemen.

No sooner had they left him in an outside room than the boy pulled the covering in his hands, and making a noise of it, slipped it around his neck. He was already red in the face when a deputy charged to enter the room and he was again stopped. Noble was placed in a strait-jacket and sent to the Sockanosset school.

UNWRITTEN LAW

DOES NOT HOLD STRONG IN MICHIGAN

PETROIT, Mich., June 29.—Whether or not they believe in the "unwritten law" as a defense for murder was sharply put up to the prospective jurors yesterday by Prosecuting Attorney Charles White, who were being examined by the court in the trial of Dr. K. E. Goydall of Lynn, Mass., for killing his wife, Harriet Goydall, when the paper was found arranged in police court for alleged misconduct with Mrs. Roydall. Judge W. F. Connolly, who presides at the trial, indicated that "unwritten law" meets with no favor as far as he is concerned. "In this state no man has a right to kill another person to avenge his private wrongs, even though they may involve the honor of his wife," said the judge.
